The Bible and the Virgin Mary

Join us for a 12 -week course explaining the Catholic truths about Our Lady and her part in God's plan to bring salvation to the world. Based on Dr. Scott Hahn's book Hail, Holy Queen, the course teaches how Marian doctrine is firmly rooted in Scripture and answers common objections from non-Catholics. Starting: 7:30pm Wed, 13 June in the Parish Hall
All are welcome! Contact: Dn Louis Azzopardi

Choir Practice will be on Mondays at 7pm in the Church every fortnight (from the 4th of June).

Sacramental Program:

Please pray for the children preparing for the Sacrament of Confirmation on the 24th June.

First Holy Communion is celebrated in September with an information and enrolment night Wednesday 01 August, 6pm. All details including downloadable forms and inquiries can be addressed via the weebly site; http://sacramentsatsaintpaul.weebly.com/first-holy-communion.html by emailing the sacramental coordinator: - Kathryn at sacramentsspcdh@gmail.com

As Catholics we believe that Jesus is truly present in the Sacred Host

- Body, Blood, Soul and Divinity present. Because of this marvellous reality you will notice that I am always very attentive to see that Holy Communion has been properly consumed by the communicant. Through inadvertence, alas, at Masses I have celebrated across the Archdiocese, I have seen some people walk off with the Sacred Host. At the Bishops' Conference we have been discussing the reverent reception of Holy Communion and I hope that before too long I can provide these guidelines. In the meantime, here are some highlights from the magisterium that are of interest.

The General Instruction of the Roman Missal for Australia:

159. The Communion chant begins while the priest is receiving the Sacrament (cf. no. 86).

160. The priest then takes the paten or ciborium and goes to the communicants who, as a rule, approach in a procession.

The faithful are not permitted to take the consecrated Bread or the sacred chalice by themselves and, still less, to hand them from one to another. In Australia standing is the most common posture for receiving Holy Communion. The customary manner of reception is recommended to be followed by all, so that Communion may truly be a sign of unity among those who share in the same table of the Lord.

When approaching to receive Holy Communion, the faithful bow in reverence of the Mystery that they are to receive.

161. If Communion is given only under the species of bread, the priest raises the host slightly and shows it to each, saying: Corpus Christi (The Body of Christ). The communicant replies: Amen, and receives the Sacrament either on the tongue or, where this is allowed and if the communicant so chooses, in the hand. As soon as the communicant receives the host, he or she consumes it entirely.

If, however, Communion is given under both kinds, the rite prescribed in nos. 284-287 is followed.

162. The priest may be assisted in the distribution of Communion by other priests who happen to be present. If such priests are not present and there is a very large number of communicants, the priest may call upon extraordinary ministers to assist him, i.e., duly instituted acolytes or even other faithful who have been deputed for this purpose. In case of necessity, the priest may depute suitable faithful for this single occasion.

These ministers should not approach the altar before the priest has received Communion, and they are always to receive from the hands of the priest celebrant the vessel containing either species of the Most Holy Eucharist for distribution to the faithful.

And from the Instruction Redemptionis Sacramentum:

[88.] The faithful should normally receive sacramental Communion of the Eucharist during Mass itself, at the moment laid down by the rite of celebration, that is to say, just after the Priest celebrant's Communion.[172] It is the Priest celebrant's responsibility to minister Communion, perhaps assisted by other Priests or Deacons; and he should not resume the Mass until after the Communion of the faithful is concluded. Only when there is a necessity may extraordinary ministers assist the Priest celebrant in accordance with the norm of law.[173]

[89.] "So that even by means of the signs Communion may stand out more clearly as a participation in the Sacrifice being celebrated",[174] it is preferable that the faithful be able to receive hosts consecrated in the same Mass.[175]

[90.] "The faithful should receive Communion kneeling or standing, as the Conference of Bishops will have determined", with its acts having received the recognitio of the Apostolic See. "However, if they receive Communion standing, it is recommended that they give due reverence before the reception of the Sacrament, as set forth in the same norms".[176]

[91.] In distributing Holy Communion it is to be remembered that "sacred ministers may not deny the sacraments to those who seek them in a reasonable manner, are rightly disposed, and are not prohibited by law from receiving them".[177] Hence any baptized Catholic who is not prevented by law must be admitted to Holy Communion. Therefore, it is not licit to deny Holy Communion to any of Christ's faithful solely on the grounds, for example, that the person wishes to receive the Eucharist kneeling or standing.

[92.] Although each of the faithful always has the right to receive Holy Communion on the tongue, at his choice,[178] if any communicant should wish to receive the Sacrament in the hand, in areas where the Bishops' Conference with the recognitio of the Apostolic See has given permission, the sacred host is to be administered to him or her.

However, special care should be taken to ensure that the host is consumed by the communicant in the presence of the minister, so that no one goes away carrying the Eucharistic species in his hand. If there is a risk of profanation, then Holy Communion should not be given in the hand to the faithful.[179]

[93.] The Communion-plate for the Communion of the faithful should be retained, so as to avoid the danger of the sacred host or some fragment of it falling.[180]

[95.] A lay member of Christ's faithful "who has already received the Most Holy Eucharist may receive it again on the same day only within a Eucharistic Celebration in which he or she is participating, with due regard for the prescriptions of can. 921 § 2."[182]
